

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS
is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature, speak
more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further,
that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases estimated desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,
A sovereign remedy for colds, obsteinate coughs, asthma, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—
To persons who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,
Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders Violent cramps in Consumptions the stomach and Lowness of spirits back
Loss of appetite Indigestion
Impurity of blood Melancholy
Hysterical affection Gout in the stomach
Inward weaknesses Pains in the limbs
and debility Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.
A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain
in the face and neck, etc., etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.
Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.
An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.
So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free
from corrosive and repellent minerals,
the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes
of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ring-
worms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,
A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of nature weakness, or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.
The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops
For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

At the place of sale, pamphlets
may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.

Dr. Thomson's System of

Chemistry.
IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.

THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phenomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition, so that it is indispensable to the chemical student,
as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is, so much theoretical speculation—so much abstract calculation
—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary,
not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of

INDIAN CORN vs. WHEAT.

"The plant that contributes in the greatest degree to national subsistence, best deserves the patronage of skill and industry." "English farmers consider wheat straw as their most abundant resource for manure." "Credited only for its stalks?" "The quality of every part of the corn offal is better, as manure, than wheat offal." "ARATOR."

A public writer, like a public officer, in our republican government, presents himself as a target, at which every individual in the community has a constitutional right to fire his ungracious blunderbuss.

With a view to testing the apparent superiority of Indian Corn over Wheat, I take leave now to refer back to last autumn, before I had seen Arator on the subject; when, to demonstrate that corn-blades were not worth the expense of preserving them, I estimated the product of one thousand hills, as fairly as could possibly be done. In the earlier trials I had reason to believe that it would require ten hills to produce one pound of fodder. But having been compelled the year before to purchase some excellent blades that had been gathered in due season, and secured in a close barn of the very best quality, and to pay one and an half cent per pound—supposing that there must have resulted to the planter of whom I bought, some reasonable profit, I proceeded with at least one dozen different trials; the average of the whole, after every liberal allowance in favor of corn-blades, was, that eight hills of the field would give one pound weight of good merchantable fodder. Nevertheless, although merchantable fodder may be advisable to be raised, for the sake of employing super-numerary slaves, (perhaps Arator's most valuable crop too,) yet no one will consume it on a farm, except as Arator truly states, "he has an exclusive reliance on it for fodder or hay"—and this must be by some ill-fated, improvident husbandman. The field from which the present data were collected, had been planted by an Overseer, and said to contain 100,000 hills, from which he had not so ignorantly calculated on receiving three barrels per 1000; but which proved to contain 60 or 65,000 hills: the produce, then also, (5th August,) estimated at 180 barrels, did actually yield about 175 barrels; but allowing every consideration of waste and error in favor of the crop, 195 barrels are admitted as its maximum.—Presuming that a gentleman of Arator's well merited distinction in society, as possessing rare talents and civic virtues, would scorn the aid of sophistry, which, in his former professional career was so conspicuous, and by which he was enabled to reap rich harvests; and that he would equally scout a "false fact," I resolved upon a course by which to extract the truth as far as from the time and circumstances could be done; this too, I humbly conceive to be the proper season: now it is that wheat straw and all dry forage is most useful; and when cattle of all kinds must be nourished with dry food. And that the comparison may be clearly comprehended, I leave it to every one to estimate the loss by evaporation or exhalation; the difference between that of the corn offal and of wheat offal, from the time that they were severally harvested. Let any gentleman take a well cured, dry bundle of fodder, and see what it will weigh: let him likewise try the weight of a single corn-top—one shuck—one corn-cob—one stalk. (I once saw a stack of tops about 100 feet long, set at auction, on twelve months credit, for $7! And this two within seven miles of a needy market. The stack required about 400 rails, ten forks, and five long poles. What must the cutting and trailing have cost? The land from which the tops had been taken was from 100 to 125 acres. What must have been the time and labor of collection? The laborers employed were of the very best negroes in the state, and made to do as much as any of Arator's. But surely Arator manages his corn tops in a very different way.) I had, like Arator, in early life, indulged prejudices against Indian Corn, and probably for similar opinions. These I have since found to be somewhat erroneous; for since it is believed that this plant belongs to the leguminous tribe, I have long since confided in the learned doctrine of "The Gentleman Farmer," who so clearly demonstrates their food, or a great part of it, to be supplied by the atmosphere. And this doctrine I was induced the more readily to embrace, from the circumstance of a certain tract of land upon one of the northern branches of the Roanoke having produced forty good crops in succession, without one particle of artificial manure. This case was from tradition to the late Mr. Burwell Sturke of Virginia, who had never among his extensive reading, seen the author before recited. It, however, has its parallel recorded either by Mr. Young, or "The West of England and Both Societies," in reporting a crop of oats. The process by which I arrived at my conclusion was this—the field alluded to already afforded the means. It may be known to any one who will take the trouble of calculation, that one pint of corn net grain per hill, is at the rate of three barrels per thousand, not regarding fractions. Hence it was found, that the fair ratio plants, instead of sixteen stalks to eight hills, was about eleven, (it had been intended to have two stalks to the hill) the consequent number of all the different members of the plants, viz.—the tops, shucks, cobs, and the stalks themselves, were equal. The bundle of blades is assumed as correct at one pound net, (an extravagant admission,) which, with 11 tops, 11 shucks, 11 cobs, and 11 stalks, the produce of eight hills, actually weighed, made a total of nine pounds.—Arator plants his corn five and half feet each way—ergo he will have 1444 hills upon an acre of 70 yards square. We will suppose that Arator's crop may, by some sad fatality, be reduced down to three barrels per 1000. We will only take from him a very small fraction, after which it will be evident that one acre of his corn crop will give him 1620 pounds of offal. Since Arator has not favored us, among other very important omissions, with a description of that particular species of Indian Corn, "that contributes in the greatest degree" to "cram" the mouth of labor, we will omit to speak of the comparative weights and prolific superiority of that valuable plant. The produce, therefore, of the grain on one acre is about twenty-two bushels; its weight, taken at a medium of 50 lbs. per bushel, will be 1100 pounds; this added to his offal of 1620 gives him a total per acre of vegetable matter, the magnified amount of 2720 pounds weight.

All the items in this account are in favor of corn in the full ratio of eleven to eight; because one good ear will yield one pint of net grain, the basis of this calculation. The number of stalks on Arator's hill are unknown. The weight of a bushel of corn varies from 45 to 60 lbs: these are details that were worthy his notice. In my progress, if the weight of a bushel of wheat, as will be stated at sixty, be thought too great, it will be but fair to make an allowance equal in ratio, in Arator's corn—for, on this occasion, I would "measure my corn by his bushel."

On the 10th July, 1790, a crop of wheat of 110 loads, the purple straw red wheat chiefly, was hauled home and secured in houses and stacks. The carriage on which it was borne was one, in its converted state called a wagon: into this state it was formed by connecting the axles and wheels of two ox carts, assuming the convenience of a wagon with a sack body 16 feet long and 4 feet high.—This machine was stowed by a skilful, stout negro fellow, and made to carry all that could possibly be contained on the body, to economise time by taking great loads: it was drawn by four yoke of very good oxen upon an uncommonly level farm. On the date above, according to written vouchers, equally to be relied upon as "experience," the load was estimated at fifteen bushels, giving for the crop 1650 bushels. In the month of December following, including several shipments to New York and Philadelphia, upon casting up the several measurements to the number of twenty-one, the produce proved to be thus—White wheat 495 bushels, purple straw red wheat 1144, making a total of 1639 bushels; exhibiting minus eleven bushels only.

The land from which this crop was raised was 66 acres of fallow and 40 of corn ground, planted in the order of 4 feet by 6, two stalks to the hill; the wide rows always in the direction of N. and S. for the advantage of seeding without digging up the corn crop. So that the average product of an acre proved to be a very little under 15 bushels, of 60 lb. weight—giving 900 wt. per acre. From the practice of keeping twelve working oxen and thirty six other horned cattle annually upon the offal of wheat, "an exclusive reliance on it for fodder or hay" during winter; (and without questioning the fact,) in better condition than my neighbours, whose "reliance" was, indeed, "exclusively on corn and its offal; and moreover, since from the frequent stopping and baulking of the team on so level a surface, the extraordinary weight of the whole load compared with the grain, it cannot be deemed extravagant to put down the product thus per acre—wheat 900 wt. offal, three fold 2700 wt. making a total of 3,600 lbs. For if twelve oxen worked in three large wheel ploughs, turning over a lay of eight to twelve inches wide, and five to nine inches deep, in the month of August did actually average four and a half acres per day throughout the month, without a mouthful of corn or its offal, surely eight chosen oxen were equal to the drawing of 4000 wt. on a plane in dry weather, the distance of five to seven hundred yards.

These premises, however unsatisfactory they may be to others, warrant my conclusions; they go to rescue the character of a subject, which from time immemorial, has been honored and cherished in the old world, as the most valuable of its species from the savage collision of an indigenous offspring of the wilderness in the new! Nevertheless, were I to philosophise a little, it could be demonstrated, in contradiction to certain doctrines of the old world, that vegetable bodies as well as animal bodies, are in fact, improved by their translation to this "corn country." But, why should our political and patriotic predilections suffer a good and estimable—a substantial foreigner—one, who throughout the revolution furnished us with "English bread," to be assailed by mistaken zeal, to degrade its fair reputation? If my conclusions are not egregiously erroneous, they prove that wheat is the grain that "contributes in the greatest degree to the" profit of the agriculturist, who possesses a soil not so friable as those generally on the Rappahannock and other waters below the falls north of the James. Let us dilate this subject; for the ascertainment of the real merits of the parties, is worthy of the patience of every farmer around us. The Indian corn plant acquires its full maturity in about seven months. The wheat plant in about ten. These terms of time are predicated upon an average of the several sorts of the two species of grain; and, it is referred to the greater intelligence of others to detect any unfairness in the comparison, since there are few annual plants that exhibit greater varieties, more especially the Indian corn plant. Is it not within the scope of common observation and reflection, that those bodies, animal and vegetable, that arrive at the greatest bulk in the shortest time, are less compact, less solid, less durable? and, are found likewise in a just ratio, in regard to their weight? Wheat is admitted to be the heaviest of all grain, and consequently the greatest improver of the soil. But if it be cut before it be ripe, the case is widely different—it is the ripening of the seed that exhausts the soil of "its soluble matter." If, as before stated, corn gives 1100 wt. and wheat 900 wt. surely the perfecting and ripening of 1100 exhaust as much as 900: the one generated in 7, and the other in ten months. Does not the ox require a greater bulk of food than the horse (compare their terms of generation)? May not the atmosphere nourish the bulky, fungous mass of corn offal, which forms its congenial fitting mushroom substance, is soon dissipated by the reaction of the same ethereal laws that had elaborated such a superabundance of delicate food? Is it not notorious that a corn field around a dwelling contributes sensibly to the healthiness of its inhabitants whilst in a state of active vegetation, and that as soon as the grain is completed, the plant begins to wither and decay, when the same dwelling is found to be extremely sickly? Place a blade of fodder and a single straw of wheat on the naked ground equally exposed to the weather for a few days or weeks, so as that they shall not be blown away, but stick close to the surface. Examine them; the straw will be found to preserve its firm texture in so far as to remain a whole; whilst the corn blade will exhibit the mechanism of its frame and lineaments only by its fine articulated fibres, which in their mere substantial growing condition, had been necessary to preserve the broad spreading leaf. The outer cortical of the corn stalk, very probably, like the wheat straw and the reed, is a substance from which the greatest quantity of vegetable manure may be rendered by the known agents, heat and moisture.

No consideration can more laudably stimulate the meagre scribe to wield his feeble pen, than the hope of effectually scanning the writings of others, in order to detect errors that are manifestly misleading many of his fellow citizens, and that too in an occupation the most honorable, as well national as personal.—Hence therefore, since Arator "is the first who has offered to the public patronage, an experimental composition, adapted to the soil, climate and agriculture of the greater portion of the United States," I would arraign him before the "Umpire" of truth. His "experience," certainly is a good "voucher." But unquestionably, weights, measures and figures are more convincing, viz. if eight hills of corn give nine, 1444 hills give 1630 of offal. Wheat it has been shown gives 2700 of offal.

Corn offal is therefore 1080 minus. Q. E. D. Suppose however, we relinquish the very great balance against corn, and agree to a compromise: that the two are in fact equal, how stands the case with Arator's unqualified assertion?

"Industrious efforts" hence may prove (If well the wedge of truth be drove), Like "lazy theorists" and quacks, The pseudo farmer science lacks.

None are more likely to "hand down and propagate errors" in political, agricultural, or any science, than a gentleman of Arator's eminent respectability. And if fame rehearses truly, no one has been more in political error than "A citizen of Virginia." It is devoutly to be wished, at the same time, that his perceptions may have undergone a revolution—that he does not continue to believe that "Mr. Hamilton hit exactly upon the same mode for the encouragement of our agriculture after the revolution, that the English did before it, for the purpose of pillaging it!" Thus far 'tis my purpose to prosecute: a discriminating public will decide the controversy. My humble talents aspire not to gild Arator hubristically, or, in modern phrase, to quid him—but whenever I contemplate a bundle of fodder as his hobby horse—whenever I see a wagon load of fodder going to market, I cannot for the soul of me resist the idea of the "devil shaving the hog!"

Arator's fame now spread so wide—As elephant's impervious hide, Alike may musket balls defy: But fame should never pass for skill—And though its sting can never kill—May both not feel a simple fly?

The "president of the board of agriculture" may possibly, at the next harvest, cause a given quantity of his wheat to be closely mowed.—(I beg pardon, his high ridges render the thing impossible; and yet Arator has no where credited the wheat crop for its stubble.) The Board too may induce some farmer, who harrows and rolls his wheat, to cut a given quantity for the purpose of weighing it accurately, as well the grain as offal that can be produced from one stalk, one bushel, or 1000 bushels, in order to benefit the country at large, by confirming the doctrines and practice of Arator, or of exposing the fallacy of a pragmatical EXILE.

[Note by the editor of the Gazette.—If the object of this publication be, as it seems from its details, the benefit of the community at large, by correcting agriculturalists in an erroneous course, and to elicit truth in an affair of so much importance, we cannot but hope to see it republished throughout the several states embraced in Arator's essays.]

Extract of a letter from Marblehead, received in Salem, June 5.

Last Sunday arrived schr Amity, Collier, with several other vessels from the Banks. Saturday, May 30, p.m. about 9 miles from the Lights, he saw the great fish. He appeared to be lying in a coil, having his head about four feet out of water, and to be about as large as a barrel. At first sight it seemed to be a wreck, or something unusual on the water, or as a good deal turned over. But while observing him he gave several shakes, threw himself out of the coil and disappeared.

A letter from Cincinnati, dated 19th ult. received in Pittsburgh, states that information had been received there that Playmart, one of the Bank robbers, and who had escaped from prison, had been apprehended near Columbus.

Nashville, May 19, SHOCKING MURDER.

We have learnt from a gentleman who resides in Hickman county, the following particulars of an shocking murder as we have ever recorded. Captain James Alston, of that county, on the 28th ult. in the evening, brought into the house two axes; his wife became alarmed; he began to bar up the doors, appeared to be in a very good humor, and ordered his wife and children to bed. Probably apprehending some violence, she laid down without undressing; he noticed it, and instantly with a hellish grin charged her with keeping on her clothes to be ready to keep some appointment as soon as he was asleep—and without waiting for a reply, he seized her by the hair of the head, drew her on the floor, struck her so as to ston her cries for mercy, split open her skull, trampled on her body, and committed other abuses. Their children, the eldest one about 13 years old, witnessed the whole transaction. When the fury of the monster was glutted, he betook himself to flight, carrying a loaded shot gun. A negro girl, who was also in the house at the time, ran to the neighbors, and gave the alarm: he returned, left the gun, made up the fire, put a handkerchief on the head of his wife, and again departed. In the morning, a company of ten men started in pursuit of him—he was found seated on a pile of rock; as they approached he gave battle; one of the party having his gun, shot three balls in his leg; he fell, but soon rose, and being an active, stout man, drove them all off. They however reinforced and took him. When he was interrogated before a magistrate, he confessed the whole of his turpitude.

He was of a respectable family, and considered a worthy man, when free from the baneful effects of ardent spirits; which, on several occasions, have entirely destroyed the sanity of his mind for several weeks together. His wife was the daughter of Adam Wilson, esq. and was universally pitied by all who knew her, having often been obliged to seek safety in flight, when her husband was in his deranged fits, and many has been the tempestuous and inclement night she has wandered in the woods with little covering for herself and infant babe at the breast. She is, however, now out of her troubles, and her brutal husband is lying in irons awaiting his doom. It is doubtful whether his counsel can plead with truth his insanity, but it no doubt will be the plea that will be attempted—however we would be the last to excite the public sympathy for or against him, as he has a right to an impartial trial, and if not subject to the law will not be punished.

UNHAPPY CASE.

Danger of conviction on presumptive evidence. David Anderson was tried last summer in Osage county for stealing a trunk, containing property to the amount of $160, which belonged to a Mr. Lynde, and was supposed to have dropped from the stage about two and a half miles from Cherry Valley. The stage passed the house of Anderson, who soon followed after it. The trunk was soon missed, and the driver returned, met Anderson, who was also seen on the road by some other persons. No other person was seen in a situation which enabled him to have taken the trunk. Many other circumstances were against him, and he was convicted; but after four months' imprisonment was discharged, the Supreme Court having decided that if he did find and take the trunk, it was not felony. Subsequently Mr. Lynde commenced a suit against Anderson for the property in the trunk, and recovered the amount; and the judgment has been satisfied by a sale of his property. Since which, and very recently, it has been ascertained that Anderson was entirely innocent; another person, a black man, has been discovered to have taken the trunk, and has confessed the fact. Thus an innocent man has suffered the loss of reputation, property and liberty, for the guilt of another.

[Union Patriot.]

In the Court of King's Bench, England, Thornton, charged with the murder of Mary Jafford, by appeal, claimed the right to decide his guilt or innocence by personal combat with the brother of the deceased, a youth of 18, according to the ancient laws of that country. The Court have given their opinion on the pleadings in favour of the accused, "that there be a trial by battle, unless the appellant show reason why the defendant should not depart without day." [Id.]

and obtained a horse and gig on hire; as he said, to go to Ellicott's Mills, and return in the afternoon of the same day; and as he has not yet returned, there is strong reason to believe that his intention is to swindle me out of my property. He is about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, apparently about 25 or 30 years of age, of genteel appearance, and well calculated to deceive.
The horse is a grey, about 15 hands high, 9 or 10 years old; has a switch tail, a speck on the right eye, and moves swiftly. The gig has a green body, carriage and wheels black, the lining of blue cloth, real stuff top, linings, plated double outside joints.

Fan-Sash Making.

The want of a Metal Fan-Sash Manufactory in Alexandria, has hitherto been severely felt by builders and others, who have been compelled to make use of wood, which is neither elegant nor durable. The various forms into which the metal can be shaped have given it a decided superiority, and the difference in the price is very trifling. The subscriber has been at considerable expense in procuring the necessary preparations, and relies on public enterprise for success in the undertaking.
Gentlemen in the country, by sending the dimensions of their sashes, can have them made at the same price as in town.

Plaster Land.

THE subscriber offers for sale two FARMS, being part of the tract whereon he resides, in Fauquier county, Virginia. One of these farms contains 600 acres, one half, at least, of which, is in wood—the other contains 450 acres, upwards of one third of which is in wood—the latter are a commodious overseer's house, a new barn, stables, corn houses, and negro quarters, and about 20 acres of well improved timothy meadow. The woodland on both of these farms is covered with a fine growth of red oak and hickory, and the soil, what is denominated first rate tobacco land—the whole of the cleared land is under good enclosures, has had the advantage of a clover hay, and has afforded as strong evidences of its adaptation to the Plaster of Paris, as any land in the state. No land is better watered; both farms being bounded by Broad Run, and having (besides other springs) a never failing stream mill run passing through their centre.

Bath House.

THE subscriber respectfully informs the public, that his Bath House is now and will remain in complete operation until the 15th inst. at which time should a sufficient number of subscribers be obtained, it will be continued during the season, otherwise he will be under the necessity of closing it on that day. The experience of former years, he trusts, will be a satisfactory apology for so doing, as without sufficient patronage to meet the expenses thereof, he cannot continue the bath house without incurring certain loss. Gentlemen disposed to encourage the establishment, will please to leave their names at his bar.

Absconded.

ON the night of the 16th inst. my negro man JOHN, or JOHN ALLEN, (as he calls himself)—he is well known, having lived with me for several years, and has travelled a good deal with me. He is a very plausible fellow, about 30 years of age, slender made, and about 5 feet 5 inches high, rather of a yellow complexion, but the complete negro mouth and nose—has a small scar on one of his cheeks—has lately had a sore on his right leg, directly on the shin bone, which leg has the appearance of being much scored at a former period by disease or the small pox. May 18 JAMES SANDERSON.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm destroying Lozenges.

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar title so commonly complained of as operating with violence, on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebra or large round worm; the Ascarides or small saw-worm; the Cucurbitaria or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes lashing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and foetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number who in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended.

Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness of the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir.

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthma, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To persons who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative.

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders, Violent cramps in the stomach and back, Loss of spirits, Indigestion, Impurity of blood, Melancholy, Hysterical affection, Gout in the stomach, Inward weaknesses, Pains in the limbs and debility, Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.
